

Kaylee

Kaylee is a Yorkshire terrier found in horrible condition. Severely malnourished, Kaylee was so weak upon arriving at the vet's office she could not stand. The veterinary technician who cleaned her up said "Her hair was so badly matted, shaving her was like removing a tortoise shell". She was diagnosed with diabetes and her illness went untreated for so long cataracts developed in both of her eyes and, as a result, Kaylee is almost blind. Kaylee's treatment started with a full week under close veterinary supervision, and her recovery has only begun. We have also learned that Kaylee's pancreas does not produce enzymes to help her digest food, so we are treating that condition. Unfortunately Kaylee is not yet gaining weight and occasionally suffers from severe bouts of intestinal upset. Specialists are continuing to search for the cause of this condition so they can set her on the road to recovery. The veterinarians have noticed that despite her inability to gain weight, her demeanor has greatly improved since coming to Hallie Hill. She is active, loving and VERY VOCAL! We have fallen in love with this strong little girl who has persevered throughout her ordeal, and we will continue to make her as healthy and happy as possible. If Kaylee is able to gain weight, she will undergo eye surgery to restore her sight. Kaylee's medications and veterinary care are an ongoing expense, so donations are greatly appreciated.

Infirmiry Renovations Complete

Usually the residents of Hallie Hill enjoy spacious enclosures (averaging over 6000 square feet) with grassy areas, shade trees, and a dog house for shelter. If a dog becomes ill, they need a smaller more sterile environment during recovery, so we bring them inside to the infirmary. We recently renovated our infirmary and are now enjoying the improvements! The room has newly poured concrete with an easy to clean finish, three inside kennels with guillotine style doggie doors each opening to a 4'x14' outdoor run. These kennels provide the perfect place for dogs to recuperate after a surgery or illness. The kennel doors have swiveling panels for food and water bowls. There are also privacy panels between the kennels to reduce barking. The new space is even used for dogs that are not ill. "The infirmary made cleaning up after a litter of seven puppies easier than ever before!" commented staff.

Athena- a beautiful hound terrier mix, waits patiently at the kennel door for a treat (and for someone to take her home).

Adorable Adoptables

Lucy

This exuberant girl is only about 8 months old— So she is still a PUPPY at heart. She jumps for joy when around people or other dogs! She has the most adoring eyes, doesn't she?

Sandy

This athletic 1 year-old loves to play with people and other dogs. She wants someone to promise she never has to be on her own again.

Humphrey

This young man would make a great family dog. He loves to patrol his yard and alert us to visitors. Playful and friendly, he enjoys toys and sometimes buries his treats!

Fiona

Almost 2 years old, this female enjoys playtime with chase toys and will be affectionate to anyone who has treats to offer.
